

A Healthy Mouth Keeps Your Heart Happy

You already have a cheap and powerful weapon against heart attacks, strokes and other heart disease conditions. It's your toothbrush.

Did you know that some oral health conditions, such as cavities and gingivitis, can be a predictor of future heart problems? It's true; the state of your teeth and gums may impact more than just your oral health.

Good oral health is vital to a heart-healthy lifestyle

People with gingivitis—a mild form of gum disease—are almost twice as likely to also have heart disease.<sup>1</sup> Over time, gum disease can increase the risk for heart attacks and strokes.

Here's why: plaque and tartar build-up on teeth can cause gingivitis. The result: irritation, redness and inflammation of your gums. Inflammation in the mouth can cause inflammation throughout the body—including in the arteries—which can lead to a heart attack or stroke.

Additionally, people with higher levels of disease-causing oral bacteria in their bloodstream are more likely to experience a hardening of the arteries in the neck which can lead to a stroke.

CareFirst enhanced benefits

CareFirst members with hypertension may be eligible for enhanced benefits including additional dental and vision benefits. These services may be covered at no cost ($0) to the member.

How to lower your risk

To maintain good oral health and avoid gum disease, you should:

- Get your teeth professionally cleaned twice a year
- Brush and floss your teeth well every day
- Make sure to remove and clean your dentures nightly and have them checked each year for proper fit
- Inform your dentist if you have a heart condition and about any medications you take, as it could affect your dental treatment
