

National Network for Important Vaccines

You can obtain the flu, shingles,* pneumonia, meningococcal, Tdap,Td and HPV vaccines from a pharmacy no matter where you are located at no cost to you. Our pharmacy benefit manager, CVS Caremark, has a national vaccine network of over 58,000 pharmacies that can provide these vaccines for you. This is almost as large as the CVS retail network of over 69,000 pharmacies.

Pharmacies in the network include CVS, Giant, Rite Aid, Target, Walmart and more. To find a pharmacy in the national vaccine network, log in to My Account, select Coverage, click on Drug and Pharmacy Resources and Find a Pharmacy. The Find a Pharmacy tool allows you to search by zip code, distance or pharmacy name.

Only pharmacies contracted by CVS Caremark for vaccination administration will display vaccination availability. Please be sure to call ahead to ensure your pharmacy has a supply of the vaccine you need and check whether a prescription or doctor's order is required.

Vaccine information

Flu

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), everyone six months of age and older should receive the vaccine before the beginning of the flu season each fall. This is especially important for people who have a high risk of developing serious complications if they get sick with the flu.

HPV

HPV vaccine is important because it protects against cancers caused by human papillomavirus infection. HPV is a common virus; nearly 80 million people—about one in four—are currently infected in the United States. About 14 million people, including teens, become infected with HPV each year. All children who are 11 or 12 years old should get two shots of HPV vaccine six to twelve months apart. Adolescents who receive their two shots less than five months apart will require a third dose of HPV vaccine.

Meningococcal

Meningococcal vaccines help protect against four strains of bacteria that cause meningococcal disease including meningitis and septicemia. Meningitis is a serious, potentially life-threatening inflammation of the membranes covering the brain and spinal cord. Septicemia is a bloodstream infection which can lead to the loss of a limb or even death.

Pneumonia

Pneumonia is a serious lung infection that can affect people of all ages. The CDC recommends this vaccine for anyone 65 and older, along with people who are considered high risk for serious problems if they get sick such as infants, young children and those with chronic health issues.

Shingles

To help prevent shingles, the CDC recommends adults 60 years and older get two doses of Shingrix due to its effectiveness. An alternative vaccine of Zostavax may be given. These vaccines can also work for people who have had shingles before.

Tdap

Tdap is a combination vaccine that protects against three potentially life-threatening bacterial diseases: tetanus, diphtheria and pertussis (whooping cough).

Td

The Td vaccine can protect adolescents and adults from tetanus and diphtheria. Td is usually given as a booster dose every 10 years, but it can also be given earlier after a severe or dirty wound or a burn. It does not protect against pertussis.

Most plans will cover your vaccines.
